

Personal Character Attacks Online in Forums and Blogs; What You Can Do About It!

For those of that spend a good deal of time on the Internet sometimes we find our personal character being attacked for no apparent reason, simply because someone else disagrees with our thoughts, comments or value system. This is truly unfortunate and to that point some feel helpless when confronted with this situation. But there is something you can do. Personal Character Attacks Online in Forums and Blogs are common place and so the first thing you must do is to realize that this is childish behavior and human nature in the online sandbox of the Internet. So you ask; What You Can Do About It! Try this type of come back sometime. Ask the other party if they are a child molester and then ask them to prove that they are not. Then when they cannot prove it or do not reply try this; So why did you not answer my question about your possible involvement as a child molester, when I noted that I believed you fit the profile? See the point? Do you? Wake up! Stop attacking my integrity and personal character and instigating or inciting others to follow your lack of common decency; be forewarned, this is behavior of yours is truly pathetic. I am blown away by your continual negative comments and claims against me. What you are doing is a lie and you either know or should have known it. Your attacks contradict your words and comments of reason, it is clear you are trying to play online politics and straddle many worlds when they one you show here is a dark, disgusting and very telling reality of who you are. Once you do this, you will have made the other party think about their tactics and the potential revenge cycle that they are indeed creating. I certainly hope this article is of interest and that it has propelled thought. The goal is simple; to help you in your quest to be the best in 2007.
