

Discount Canadian Drugs Online

Online Canadian drugstores are able to offer up to an 85% discount on more than 3000 brand names of medicines and generic drugs. Most drugs are similar to or the same as those manufactured in US. Canadian pharmacies provide a generic version of the same drug at a lesser price. Such drugs need not be considered to be of inferior quality on the basis of the low cost. Branded drugs normally cost more than generic drugs. Online Canadian pharmacies offer generic drugs at about 45% less than the cost of brand-name drugs. At the same time, it is ensured that active ingredients in both generic and brand-name drugs meet same scientific standards. The risk of purchasing a non-standardized drug considerably increases when customers order Canadian drugs at discounted rates online. Some discounted Canadian drugs that are sold online may not be accepted by Health Canada, the regulatory body for the country's pharmacy industry. There have been complaints from consumers who have purchased discounted prescription drugs from certain online Canadian pharmaceutical companies. In many of these cases, the drugs provided were not from a Canadian pharmacy as claimed. They were instead manufactured in third world countries. In some cases, drugs were not delivered despite payment being processed. Timely delivery of drugs is another important factor for consideration. If delivered too late, they may not serve the purpose they have been bought for. Customers also need to make sure that the quality of these is up to the required standard. A check on consumer protection agencies? Web sites will show if there have been any previous complaints. It is highly advisable to deal with a legitimate pharmacy or well-known online Canadian drug stores. By providing drugs at discounted costs, online pharmacies based in Canada have eased worries regarding high medication costs for many Americans. The customer friendly attitude of Canadian online pharmacies makes the experience of buying drugs over Internet a favorable option.

About the Author

Pharmacies have a unique role to play in our Open Up to Mouth Cancer campaign. Pharmacy staff can help raise awareness of both the early warning.

Source: <http://www.productsherbal.com>