

The Best Hair Loss Remedy

According to consumer reports, the best hair loss remedy on the market today is Procerin. This treatment comes in a pill form and is combined with a solution that you apply to your scalp on a daily basis. You don't need a prescription for this remedy because it contains all natural ingredients. There have been amazing results for men using Procerin when they suffer from Alopecia Androgenetic, which is also called male pattern baldness. In most cases, hair loss is caused by a gene and this product has been able to reverse the balding process. The reason that Procerin works so well is that it blocks DHT. In men with genetic alopecia, there is a higher than normal level of dihydrotestosterone (DHT) in their scalp. This is a by-product of the male hormone, testosterone and when there is too much of it in the body it gets converted to DHT, thereby leading to hair loss. The special ingredients in the Procerin hair loss remedy are specifically designed to block the formulation of DHT. Unlike other hair loss medications, Procerin does not interact with testosterone at all. It will halt the loss of hair, so that men can keep what they already have. If baldness is prevalent in your family, you should start using this product as soon as you notice any thinning of your hair. However, you will have to keep using it. It is only a preventative remedy and is not a cure. It reduces any further loss of hair from the scalp and does not interfere with sexual activity, as some other treatments do. There is no danger of increased blood pressure with this remedy either. The age group that will benefit most from using Procerin is men from ages 18 to 35. If the hair is still growing, men who use this remedy will experience a fuller head of hair than they previously had. It is really effective for those men whose hair is still growing, but who notice that their hairline is starting to recede.
