

Refurbished Precor Ellipticals

Precor Inc. is one of the top selling companies in both home fitness products and commercial products. The home fitness products can be found in many fitness retailers. The commercial products can be purchased either directly through Precor, or through many of the home product dealers and retailers. There are many fitness retailers that offer refurbished Precor Ellipticals. If considering buying a refurbished Precor Elliptical, one might want to do some research on the outlet that you are purchasing it from. There are many reputable used fitness companies out there. Precor is a high quality fitness machine when it comes off the manufacturing line. Precor has found a way to reduce the parts on fitness machines by 25%, to eliminate the number of repairs to the machine. So if you are purchasing a refurbished Precor Elliptical, you are already starting with a great product. Most fitness and health clubs keep their elliptical trainers for approximately 4-5 years. The commercial Precor Elliptical machine has an estimated life span of 10-12 years. When the health facilities replace their older equipment with newer equipment, the older is used as a trade in. At this point the trade in has half of its life span left. The manufacturer then takes it and replaces parts and refurbishes it. This adds to the elliptical trainers life span, while allowing the manufacturer to offer it at a lower cost to consumers. Another objective that this creates is that it boosts the fitness clubs to replace their equipment more often, because the manufacturer can turn around and resale the refurbished Precor Elliptical trainer. The more demand there is on refurbished equipment, the more trade in value to the health clubs and fitness facilities.
